Southern California Robotics Symposium 2019

We are writing to solicit support for the upcoming 2019 Southern California Robotics Symposium, held at Caltech this year. SCR aims to bring together roboticists from Southern California, and showcase established and up-and-coming robot companies. The conference will feature poster/demo sessions and talks from distinguished speakers. The first edition (2016) and the second (2017) had over 300 participants, and we expect to attract an even larger audience at this year's event.
